It is an easy hike on the Mer de Glace glacier (a ballad) which will put you in the middle of a magnificent landscape, surrounded by mythical summits (Grandes Jorasses, the Dru, Chamonix needles, the Vallée Blanche , etc ... Access to the Mer de Glace from the Montenvers station/shelter can be done either through a series of scales that may seem very steep for those who do not have a little practice or by a cable car that gives access to the « ice cave » followed by a series of stairs.

Since we will be on a glacier it is recommended to be equipped accordingly (ice ax, crampons, harness, rope rescue equipment, ...) and on autonomous roped teams. The hike to Montenvers takes about 2 hours, 20 minutes by train. The scales require 30 minutes and the hike to les Moulins about 1 hour.
